

May 2009

Caution Notice

We hereby inform all clients, traders and end consumers that KTI-Plersch Kältetechnik GmbH (KTI) has applied for a patent for a Modular Concrete Cooling System in the UAE. Application No. 201/2007, dated March 05, 2007 as inventor.

KTI has recently learnt that a number of traders and competitors are trading with a deceptively similar patent as well a deceptively identical catalogue by using an identical design layout and outlines, which is part of the corporate identity of KTI.

Such acts are unlawful and it amounts to violation of rights of KTI and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products and is an act of unfair competition as per Article Art. 27 of the UAE Consumer Protection Law.

This notice is to caution any clients, traders, consumers and the persons involved in the trade of the above-mentioned concrete cooling systems invented by us, that KTI and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products has no connection to any other company trading and/or advertising with concrete cooling systems.

By advertising with KTI's corporate identity design layout, it is shown that other traders are trying to attract new clients pretending that they are able to copy concrete cooling systems, which are originally invented and produced by KTI and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products.

KTI-Plersch Kältetechnik GmbH and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products will take necessary action against such persons and all the costs and consequences will be borne by such parties.

KTI and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products hereby reserve their right for any damages incurred by virtue of illegal and wrongful acts by a trader engaged in sale/purchase/importing/manufacturing of dealing with KTI's products and design layouts without KTI's formal written consent.

KTI and its Sales and Service Representative for the Middle East VIP – Various Ice Products will therefore use its full capacity to take action against this unfair competition under exploitation of the protection granted by the applicable laws and regulations.